Bears, Auroras & Puffins

Lake Clark National Park
August 13-19, 2024

“

Once you learn to photograph a puffin in flight, you can shoot just about anything. They're the litmus test for taking your images to the next level.

~Sandy Coffman, Austin, TX

● Silver Salmon Creek,
Lake Clark

Up-Close, Safe Viewing

Fall brings fishing bears sprinting after salmon the rivers, along with sparring juveniles playing in the last of the pink fireweed. Coastal brown bears dominate the landscape, feasting on fish to fatten up for the coming winter, and auroras become possible. Plus, hundreds of puffins fly around puffin island! Bears in this area have grown up here without being hunted or associating humans with food. We are a part of their world, which allows us intimate access to view them without disturbing their natural habitat.

Around Silver Salmon Creek, we travel on ATVs, setting up wherever the action is. Depending on bear activity, light, and tides, we position photographers for the perfect shot, whether that be a close-up, landscape, silhouette, sunrise, or an action shot. We follow best bear-viewing practices to ensure the safety of both bears and humans. There's absolutely no other experience like this on earth. We are one of the few touring companies who will guarantee you'll see bears.

Bear Shots We'll Try to Get in the Field

Fishing action, sunrise silhouettes, cub sparring, portrait, landscape, sedge-grass feeding, reflections, nursing cubs, clamming, fighting, and sleeping

Beyond Bears...

Aerial photography, auroras, sunrise beach shots, bald eagles, puffins, and possibly wolves, and moose. Tired of wildlife? Catch a silver salmon on a fly rod!

“

The fresh sashimi salmon dish they made from the fish we caught just moments earlier was the most amazing thing I've ever eaten.

Where We Stay, Eat, Dream, and Play

Guests share a lodge with porches and modern amenities including full bathrooms (some shared), electricity, heat, and even wi-fi. Bears frequently visit the lodge.

All guiding, activities, gear, photo instruction, and meals are included. Beyond bear viewing, guests may fly-fish, hike, sea kayak, canoe, go berry picking, and clam.

The coastal boat tour to view puffins is taken in a charter boat with a heated cabin and plenty of outdoor deck space for photography. The tour includes views of a historic cannery and a landing on Puffin Island.

Exceptional, savory meals are served in the main lodge and can accommodate dietary restrictions and allergies.

Daily photography instruction and image sharing will take place in the media room on property. One-on-one Lightroom tutorials are offered throughout the tour as requested.

Whether you are into photography or have just come for the wildlife viewing, you won't leave disappointed.
